To run a newspaper all a fellow has to do is to be able to write poems, discuss the tariff and money question, umpire a baseball game, report a wedding, saw wood, describe a fire so that the readers will shed their wraps, make $1.00 do the work of $10.00, shine at a dance, measure calico, abuse the liquor habit, test whisky, subscribe to charity, go without meals, attack free silver, wear diamonds, invent advertisements, sneer at snobbery, overlook scandal, appraise babies, delight pumpkin raisers, minister to the afflicted, heal the disgruntled, fight to a finish, set type, mould opinions, sweep out the office, speak at the prayer meetings, and stand in with everybody and everything, while professing to belong to both parties and all the churches.

On Saturday next the Review enters upon a grand circulation contest for piano prizes—jointly with H. W. Reeves, merchant. In addition to the principal prizes secondary prizes will be announced later on. On collections for arrears, renewals or new subscriptions to the Review secured by the candidates a commission of ten per cent will be allowed. This is the only excitement in Vulcan at present so strike while the iron is hot and get paid for your time win or no. There is no advance in the price of this paper, one dollar per year, no advance of the price of goods on this plan. It is done in the belief that enough more business can be done to warrant the cash outlay. Study the rules and regulations, be first to name your candidate and stand a show of getting an extra prize. With the nomination of a candidate goes a bonus vote of one thousand to start. A second nomination of a candidate will not count for another bonus.

Get till it!

On Tuesday occurred the election of the electors who will cast their ballots for President of the United States at the respective state capitals on the first Monday in January. The expected happened, the Democratic candidate, Governor Wilson of New Jersey is reasonably sure of having received around 300 of the 531 electoral votes 200 being necessary to choose. The congress is in doubt, but if the Democrats secure the senate, later, and hold the popular house, a general rip-up of the tariff will follow.

The mixed farming exhibition train arrived late on Tuesday night and pulled out to High River yesterday at noon. That was not sufficient time for the farmers to drive any distance and be here in time. The exhibits were first class and the lecturers better and more practically informed than others who have been here. The few who attended are in accord in their praise of the enterprise.

Ferrodale School, Vulcan

Following is report to November 1. Names in order of merit.

THE DRAMA

The members of the Vulcan Dramatic Society made their initial bow before the public last Monday to an audience, which in size, far exceeded their expectations.

Probably it was partly the satisfaction derived from seeing the densely packed hall that greeted them at the raising of the curtain which added zest to the undertaking before them; perhaps it was simply a determination within themselves to win, whether or no, that achieved success. At any rate they gained their end. That their future will be successful is now assured.

For a "First Appearance" their work was excellent. The parts were well memorized and prompting, if any, went unnoticed.

Space not permitting, we are unable to dwell in detail on each and every character though we feel compelled to mention the very fine portrayal of the characters "Nora Hansen" and "Dick Burton" in the first play on the bill "The Confederates" and "Abel Merryweather" in "The Dear Departed." If there can be any criticism at all as the result of their efforts, then it is that the programme was too short, but this can be no reflection on the undertaking, indeed, the opposite, if anything, would be inferred.

Piling Grain

Brunetta, November 11.—Threshing operations in this part have been considerably delayed owing to several snow storms. However, with three machines in the district things are being piled up some.

The death of Mr. and Mrs. Peirson's baby son in this district last August brought forth the necessity of a grave yard site being chosen and set apart. An acre was chosen on the corner of Mr. O. P. Stewart's homestead which makes a very suitable spot for the interment of our dead. The grave yard committee met last Tuesday to arrange details. A set of rules were drawn up and accepted by the committee which must now be sanctioned by the people before they come into force.

The Union Sunday School of Sunny Plains appointment has become quite a strong organization for a rural place. The attendance ranging between thirty and forty on an average. Great interest is aroused in the work which we hope will continue to grow. We extend a cordial invitation to any who do not or have not attended heretofore. Prayer meeting every Thursday evening, 8 p.m.

Thanksgiving services were held in the Sunny Plains School house and despite the fact that threshing was being carried on and rather short notices given, there was a large attendance. This is the first occasion on which the people as a community have kept the National Thanksgiving day in this way. The service was conducted in a very able and inspiring way by the Rev. Cotton. It is meet that we should thank God for all his mercies toward the children of men.

The people of Sweet Valley, Bright Prospect and Sunny Plains Mission field were visited for the first time by the new missionary Mr. Doreau who is filling this field in place of Mr. McComb. We certainly are fortunate in getting such a young and lively yet earnest and sincere missionary in this district. May God bless his labors among us.

Mrs. T. M. Wilson entertained the young people of this district at her home on Monday evening.

Merchant (about to engage a traveller)—What were you in goal for? Traveller—it was for thrashing a party who would not give me an order.

Merchant—You are engaged.

Suspicious Tailor—There, just stand in that position, and please look straight at the notice while I take your measure.

Customer reads the notice—Terms cash.

Winard's Liniment Cures Colds, &c.

A man went to an insurance office to have his life insured the other day. Do you cycle? the insurance agent asked.

No.

Do you motor?

No.

Do you then, perhaps, fly?

No, no, said the applicant laughing, I have no dangerous—

But the agent interrupted him—

Sorry sir, he said, but we no longer insure pedestrians.

Doctors do not believe in advertising, but it is noticed by the Roosevelt and other cases that they all sign bulletins with their full names whenever they get a chance to do so.

Attacks of cholera and dysentery come quickly, there seldom being any warning of the visit. Remedial action must be taken just as quickly if the patient is to be spared great suffering and permanent injury to the lining membranes of the bowels. The readiest preparation for the purpose is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It can be got at small cost at any drug store or general dealer's, and it will afford relief before a doctor can be called.

Explanation

Do you mean to say such a physical wreck as he gave you that black eye? asked the magistrate.

Sure, your honor, he wasn't a physical wreck till after he gave me the black eye, replied the complaining wife.

WOMAN'S MOST SUCCESSFUL MEDICINE

Known All Over The World—Known Only For The Good It Has Done.

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or received so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In nearly every community you will find women who have been restored to health by this famous medicine. Almost every woman you meet knows of the great good it has been doing among suffering women for the past 30 years.

Fox Creek, N. B.—"I have always had pains in the abdomen and a weakness there and often after meals a soreness in my stomach.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me much good. I am stronger, digestion is better and I can work with ambition. I have encouraged many mothers of families to take it as it is the best remedy in the world. You can publish this in the papers."—Mrs. WILLIAM A. BOURQUE, Fox Creek, N. B.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, many of whom state that it has saved them from surgical operations.

Accelerating Brain Activity

In the early days of Wisconsin, two of the most prominent lawyers of the State were George B. Smith and I. S. Sloan, the latter of whom had a habit of injecting into his remarks to the court the expression, Your honor, I have an idea. A certain case had been dragging along, through a hot summer day when Sloan sprang to his feet, with his old remark: Your honor, I have an idea.

Smith immediately bounded up, assumed an impressive attitude and in great solemnity said:

May it please the court, I move that a writ of habeas corpus be issued by this court immediately to take the learned gentleman's idea out of solitary confinement.

Advice From an Expert

George Washington Johnson stood before an avenging judge, and realized that all the evidence was against him. It was the same old charge. But, said the judge, with a perplexed frown, I don't understand, Johnson, how was it possible for you to steal those chickens when they were roosting right under the owner's window and there were two vicious bulldogs in the yard.

It wouldn't do you no good, fudge, for me to 'splain how I caught 'em, replied the successful culprit. You couldn't do it if you tried it forty times, an' you might get a hide full of buckshot de ve'y fast time you put your laig ober de fence. De heat way for you to do is to buy your chickens in de market.

Mr. Herbert Samuel, the Postmaster-General, is considering the advisability of issuing ready reckoners for post office clerks.

A Pleasant Purgative.—Parsmelee's Vegetable Pills are so compounded as to operate on both the stomach and the bowels, so that they act along the whole alimentary and excretory passages. They are not drastic in their work, but mildly purgative, and the pleasure of taking them is only equalled by the gratifying effect they produce. Compounded only of vegetable substances the curative qualities of which were fully tested, they afford relief without chance of injury.

Used to Degrees

Police Captain—I gave him the third degree, and he never flinched. Detective—No wonder. He belongs to about ten fraternal organizations.

The British public spend $12,000,000 a year on patent medicines, from which the Government draws a revenue in duty of over $1,500,000.

TAKEN HOME ON A MATTRESS

How A Sufferer From Sciatica Found Permanent Relief.

Fierce darting pains, pains like red hot needles being driven through the flesh in the thigh, perhaps down the leg to the ankle—that's sciatica. None but this victim can realize the torture of this trouble, and many suffer from it hopelessly in the belief that it cannot be cured. This is a mistake; sciatica is a nerve trouble, and if the starved nerves are properly nourished with rich, red blood the trouble will soon disappear. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make just the new, pure blood needed to feed the sciatica nerve and drive out the racking pain. It has been proved over and over again that they can do this and we offer now the following additional piece of evidence. Mr. E. H. Pastors, Harrow, Ont., says: "Some years ago I was terribly afflicted with sciatica, starting just in my hip and then extending through the leg to the foot. At the time I was attacked I was away from home and had to be brought home on a mattress in a spring wagon, and the agony of the trip was almost more than I could endure. Reaching home I was not able to sit up and remained in bed for six weeks. The doctor did not help me and I tried a number of medicines recommended by neighbors. I paid $5.00 a bottle for one preparation, but it was no better than the rest, and I began to think there was no cure for me. While suffering this untold misery Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended, and my wife got me a supply. In the course of a few weeks I began to feel better and could get around with the aid of a cane. I kept on taking the Pills until all the pain disappeared and I felt as well as ever I did. I have never had an attack of the trouble since, and although I am now 65 years of age I feel as vigorous as I did at 40, all of which I ascribe to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

If you are suffering from sciatica or any nerve or blood trouble, begin to cure yourself to-day by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which will assuredly do for you what they have done for others, if you give them a fair trial. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

They were in the unique section of the art museum and were gazing at a mummy swathed in its cloth. Auto or aeroplane accident, evidently, one man remarked. Guess it's the former, returned his companion, for see, there's the auto number, and he pointed to a card reading B.C., 87.

An Irish Compliment

He was an Irishman, and he had red hair and broad shoulders. Moreover, one glance at him gave you the impression that, as a nifty infidel in the whisky game, he had hung up a record for accepting all chances. A policeman, laying a heavy hand on one of the broad shoulders, began to make a few remarks about the necessity of a journey to the police court. I don't care, said the Irishman, whether you take me before that judge or not. He's an old fool. That's all he is.

Do you really think he's a fool, asked the officer. I think he's a fool, replied the prisoner, but I wouldn't like to take the chance of his feeling that way when you get me before him.

Cooking the Baltic Egg

In his hot letter to the King of Montenegro, Baron d'Estourelles de Constant accuses him of setting the world afire to cook his egg for a second time. There is force in the borrowed figure. Montenegro can hardly furnish more than 50,000 troops by robbing the cradle and the grave, and a force so small cannot make much of a war. Far otherwise will it be if Serbia, Greece and Bulgaria take the field with ten times as many men.

You're a fine little fellow, said the new pastor to the 6 year old son of his parishioner, at whose house he had arrived for tea. Won't you shake hands and let's get acquainted? Nope, said the fine little fellow. Won't neither.

Why, asked the minister, have I done anything to displease you? —Yep, was the impolite response. Had to have my face an' hands washed just because you was comin'.

A well-known physician was examining a class of nurses. He described the condition of a patient and asked one nurse how much morphine in her opinion should be administered to the sufferer.

Eight grains, promptly replied the nurse. The doctor made no comment, and the girl passed on.

When her turn came again she appeared greatly confused and said to the examiner: Doctor, I wish to correct the answer I made the last time. I meant to say that one-eighth of a grain should be given to the patient. Too late, remarked the physician without looking up from his question paper. The man is dead.

Oh, John, sobbed Mrs. John. I've done something awful and I'm almost afraid to tell you but I must! I made a most awful mistake this morning and sent your new dress suit to the rummage sale instead of your old one, and when I found out what I had done and ran over to get it back it had been sold.

That's all right, Mabel, dear, said John amiably. I stopped in at the sale myself and bought it back for 35 cents.

Apple trees in full bloom and raspberry canes bearing fruit for the second time this season may be seen at Pointon, Lincolnshire.

The Bank of Sweden is introducing a system of washing old bank notes and then putting them through a chemical process, as this is cheaper than making new ones.

No Raw Ones for Her

Rose Pastor Phelps Stokes was talking in New York about the untold good that had been accomplished during the summer by the various country week associations.

And how quaint, she said, were the comments of all these little alumn archbishops before the wonders of the country.

I once led a little East Side girl into a peach orchard, and, picking up a glorious peach from the tree, I handed it to her.

Eat it, I said. You'll find it delicious.

But she frowned and shook her head.

No, she said, haughtily. Oh, no, I never touch 'em till they're canned.

President Hadley of Yale was, telling that it is a better thing to have written examinations of students instead of the oral ones, which were the rule of some years ago. He illustrated it thus:

Two gentlemen who were playing cards at a club recently were much annoyed by other members who stood behind their chairs and interested themselves in the game. Finally one of the players asked a spectator to play the hand for him until he returned.

The spectator took the cards, whereupon the first player left the room. Pretty soon the second player followed this example of the first. The two substitutes played for some time, when one of them asked the waiter where the two original players were.

They are playing cards in the next room, sir, was the waiter's reply.

How are you passing your vacation? In an ideal way. I'm pleased nearly all the time.

That is rare. What is your method?

I spend two days in the country, then I'm glad to get back to the city. I spend two days in the city, then I'm glad to get back to the country. It's a great scheme.

Inadvertent Humor of Signs

Long before Dickens turned the limelight upon the Tooley Street sign, Carpets cleaned, advice given, furniture moved, and poetry written on any subject, the study of a city's signs has interested the strolling stranger, remarked a stopover tourist from the West.

How suggestive that sign of a couple of ice dealers we saw this morning in Georgetown, "Cool and High." And the versatility of his race was exhibited by an Indian in a sign over his shop on Ninth street, near the public library: Wood, Spanghetti, Cavi and Olive Oil—all the Italian curi-sity.

You see da sign, was the Delphic response; I don't know now whether he had any or not.

As we neared the wharf, bound for Mount Vernon, my wife pointed to a great roof sign, over a large supply house: "Iron sinks; Wood Floats, it ran. Humph, she sneered contemptuously, we didn't have to come all the way from Indiana to find that out.

A novel adaptation of the automatic machine has been installed at one of the London railway stations. It is intended for people who make the station a rendezvous and run the risk of missing their friends. A penny placed in the machine brings a card and a pencil, and the message written, it is placed in the frame of the machine, and exhibited for three hours. The man who cannot keep his appointment is thus given a chance of making matters right with the other party to the arrangement.

Here, began a woman known to a writer in the Canadian Courier, here's an article in the evening paper on Women's Work for the Feeble Minded.

Her husband grunted—being in a reactionary mood. I'd like to know, he said, what women have ever done for the feeble-minded?

They usually marry them, dear, replied his wife, sweetly.

Eve a Ready-Made

There are three kinds of housekeepers, the homemade, the ready-made and the made to order. Of these the ready-mades are the most numerous, but the made to order are the most important. The homemades have existed for centuries, although not always. Eve was not a homemaker. She was a ready-made. Her first home in the garden was without tradition, precedent or a mother in law. In it Eve toiled not neither did she spit, and there is not the faintest suggestion that she ever offered anything but raw food to Adam. It is the made to order, or trained housekeeper, who can best meet living conditions to day.

Amateur Theatricals

Heroine—You say you don't think the persons in the back of the audience can hear us?

Professional Coacher—No, but don't let that worry you. They can hear the prompter distinctly; so they won't lose touch with the play.

An English tourist, who was telling an Irish peasant about the immense size of the British Empire, said:

Well, Pat, and do you know that the sun never sets on the King's domains?

No, your honor, replied Pat.

Well, such is the case, went on the tourist. But do you know the reason why?

Pat immediately answered: I suppose it is because Heaven is afraid to trust an Englishman in the dark.

A Classy List of Pies

The gentleman with a concave front and a large watch chain alighted from the train at a junction in a Western State and rapidly made his way to the dining room of the only hotel in the place.

What kind of pies have you here? he asked eagerly, of the kitchenschief lady who stood at his elbow.

All four kinds, she replied, with an air of disdain.

What are they?

Open faced, cross bar, kivered up and the kind mother used to make, was the catalogue which she gave.

Going fishing?

Yep.

You don't seem very cheerful about it!

I'm not. You see I'm going with a fellow who has promised to take me where he always catches them.

POWERS ARE NERVOUS

EUROPEAN SITUATION CREATES A NERVOUS TENSION

A Congratulatory Telegram is Sent by Czar of Russia to Servia on Success of War—Taken as a Warning to Germany and Austria by the Triple Entente.

London.—In the present nervous tension resulting in the general European situation, extreme importance attaches to a telegram which the Czar of Russia sent to King Peter of Servia congratulating him that the Serbian army had been successful in Macedonia without the need of invoking assistance from the outside. No information has come as to the effect which this telegram, which was only made public at a late hour, has created in Vienna, but it may reasonably be surmised that it will be regarded as a most unpleasant and alarming demonstration. One has only to remember that but for German threats Russia would have mobilized against Austria when the latter executed her Bosnia Herzegovina coup.

Servia's territorial ambitions, now almost openly avowed are chief danger points in the relation of the great powers. Austria will not tolerate a change in the status quo; Russia, by the Czar's telegram congratulating the Servians, practically approves and commends them.

A Vienna dispatch to the Daily Mail clearly states the Austrian position. The overwhelming success of the Bulgarian and Serbian armies is not regarded as sufficient warrant for modifying the determination of Austria to maintain the status quo. Should it become evident, however, that the status quo can no longer be upheld, everything will depend on the attitude of Servia toward her Austria-Hungarian neighbor. This statement was furnished the correspondent on unimpeachable authority regarding the attitude of the dual monarchy toward the new situation created by the collapse of the Turkish army.

A message from Berlin says that while the German government has, of course, been very careful to refrain from any official provocative utterance concerning the Balkan situation, individually German military men snuffed openly, at the suggestion in London despatches that no better combination of circumstances could arise for the benefit of the triple entente of England, France and Russia to embark in a war with Germany at a moment when Austria would not be able to offer Germany any assistance.

The situation was exactly the same a few years ago, it was pointed out when Austria ceded the provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina from Turkey. Russia threatened to interfere, and Germany was expected to come to Austria's assistance. England and France intimated that if Germany undertook to act, they would attack the Fatherland. Germany did mass troops on the Russian frontier and warn the Czar against intervention, whereupon England and France quickly subsided, and the Czar desisted by his allies, was compelled to hold his hand. This, said the London authorities, is what undoubtedly will happen again if the same situation arises, despite the Czar's telegram of congratulation to King Peter of Servia on his Balkan victories. It was agreed that the Nicholas message possibly was intended as a warning to Austria to keep out, but the Germans did not regard it as a warning which need cause them serious alarm.

CHOLERA DESTROYING HOGS

Objecting to Killing One Animal When it Sickness, Farmers Lose Heavily

Moose Jaw.—An outbreak of hog cholera would appear to have broken out in the province, especially in the district. Although it has been given other names, it seems certain that in many parts the sickness which has ravaged the herds, is none other than the decimating cholera itself. The authorities at Regina have been informed from several places. An inspector has been sent out but before his arrival in the affected territory, it has been too late to do anything. It seems that the farmers have grudgingly killed sickened animals with the result that whole herds have died off.

It is reported that some cases have been located in Saskatoon and many other places, but that the farmers refuse to admit that the mortality is due to cholera. Word has been received here, however that where the disease has been most prevalent it has been successfully diagnosed as hog cholera by the authorities.

DRINKING CUP ABOLISHED

From Every Railway and Vessel in the United States

Washington, D.C.—Secretary of the Treasury MacVeach with one sweep has abolished the time honored public drinking cup from railroad cars, vessels and other conveyances operated in inter-state traffic, and from depots and waiting rooms of common carriers. This sweeping order against any drinking cup, glass, or vessel for common use, effective immediately, is in the interest of the nation's health and is a direct result of an investigation by the United States public health service, a branch of the Treasury Department, which holds the drinking cup to be a menace as a carrier of disease. A drinking cup, it is said may contain thousands of bacteria from disease-infected persons.

Pensioner for 50 Years

London.—Sergeant Henry Barnes, a Crimean veteran, who died at New Ferry, Cheshire, drew a pension for nearly fifty years. After Balclutha he was nursed by Florence Nightingale.

Antwerp.—The body of a traveler in diamonds named Provo, who disappeared a few weeks ago while carrying gems worth a very large sum, has been found buried in a park near Antwerp. The owner of the park, a man named Vergouts, who is prominent in sporting circles, has been arrested.

BLAMED FOREIGNERS

For Large Increase in the Canadian Drink Bill

Renfrew, Ont.—It is the people who come to us from all the nations of the earth that we blame for a large part of the increase of our annual drink bill in spite of our local option victory; also for the menace of the slum problem in our cities.

This extract from the annual address of the provincial president of the W.C.T.U., Mrs. E. A. Stevens, Toronto, was the dominant note in the proceedings this afternoon at the convention in session here. Mrs. Stevens dwelt at length on the import and consumption of spirits in Canada, the local option victories won in the province and the canteen question.

Col. The Hon. Sam Hughes received a considerable modicum of praise in the president's address for his action in regard to the abolishing of the canteen system.

Getting Little Real News

London.—The newspapers of England, which have a brigade of special correspondents as near the front as the rival army commanders will allow them to go, are angry over their poor showing, considering the immense expense. They find themselves paying for long dispatches containing state information and dramatic descriptions of places which the armies occupied the week before.

Punch hits the nail on the head by publishing a cartoon with the caption "The Freedom of the Press," and shows a war correspondent blindfolded and mounted on a blindfolded, hobbled horse. Two Balkan soldiers with fixed bayonets stand on each side of him while he is trying to write despatches.

The Bylander holds that the day of the war correspondent is over, saying:

Commanding generals have learned the lesson, taught by the South African war and the Manchurian war, that the war correspondent is a menace to successful strategy.

Taking Intervention

Rome.—A diplomatic representative of one of the Balkan states, a man noted for his statesmanlike qualities, was asked by a correspondent whether he thought intervention by the powers is at hand, and what welcome the intervention is likely to receive from the allies.

The chancelleries of Europe have been discussing that question for the last two months, he replied, but I don't think they are likely to come to an agreement before the Bulgarian army is under the walls of Constantinople. The Bulgarians will not enter Constantinople. The allies do not wish to add to the questions arising out of the war the very difficult problem of the Khalifate and the Dardanelles. If when this point is reached European offers mediation we shall beg her to allow us to settle with the Turk alone.

The children of the Berlin treaty have grown up and won by their blood the right to dispense with parental guidance. They know how to be discreet. If the powers really want to put an end to the war, they have only to compel the Port to proclaim autonomy for Macedonia.

WILL KNOW EXACT TIME

In Europe and America When Wireless is Established

Paris.—The exact time at a given moment in America and Europe, will be established shortly by wireless telegraphy. About the middle of November it will be possible for the first time to establish with precision the longitudes of America and Europe in their relations to each other by the exchange of wireless signals between the great station at Arlington, Va., and the Eiffel Tower in Paris and other European stations.

Commander Hough at the International Time Conference here declared that the observatory in Washington was now distributing the time with errors of only one-thousandth part of a second. Hitherto European and American time has been distributed by cable, allowances being made for loss of time in transmission, and the time has been re-adjusted only three times—in 1896, 1870, and 1872.

Getting Rich Through Mails

Ottawa.—Postmaster General Hitchcock, of the United States and Hon. L. P. Pelletier are uniting in a crusade against mail order sharks who are using the mails of both countries for fraudulent purposes. Get rich quick men are according to the post office authorities, increasing in Canada at a disturbing rate, many of those who have been driven out of New York, Chicago and other American cities, having turned their attention to Canada as a particularly rich territory for their line of endeavor. The matter has been taken up jointly by the heads of the post offices of the two countries, the American authorities are gladly co-operating in the effort to protect citizens of the Dominion from these fraudulent concerns.

TELEGRAPHS IN THE NORTH

Government Line to Port McMurray Progressing

Edmonton.—More than seventy-five miles of right of way of the Dominion Government telegraph line from Athabasca Landing to Port McMurray, a distance of 240 miles, have been cleared during the present fall under the direction of C. D. Currier, chief engineer, and J. F. Bennett, assistant who came into the city from the north. The line will be completed and in operation in about fourteen months.

C. P. R. HAS BIG INCOME

Gross Earnings in Nine Months Were $36,000,000

Winnipeg.—C.P.R. gross earnings in September were eleven and a half million dollars. Working expenses were seven and a third and net profits four and a quarter millions. Past nine months' gross earnings were thirty-six millions; working expenses twenty-two and a half millions, and net profits thirteen and a half millions.

TO SHIP GRAIN SOUTH

ANOTHER OUTLET FOR THE REMOVAL OF CROP

It is Expected that the New Channel will Greatly Relieve the Congestion at the Terminal Elevators—Grain to be Shipped to Minneapolis Mills.

Moose Jaw.—Starting on November 8, grain will be shipped to Minneapolis and St. Paul at the same rate that it is now shipped to Fort William and Port Arthur.

This concession means much to Southern Saskatchewan, for grain will be shipped to the Minneapolis mills from here and from points east of here in large quantities. In short, this concession on the part of the C.P.R. will probably drain southern Saskatchewan and Alberta of its wheat, for navigation on the great lakes will soon be at an end, and then this will be a second outlet for the crop of the Canadian northwest.

Millions of bushels of grain, which otherwise would be shipped east to Fort William and stored there for the winter, will be sent south, and the terminal elevators will have a better opportunity to accommodate all the grain sent there which is too late for shipment east.

The car congestion is already serious in the southern portion of this province and in Alberta.

The C.P.R. has also announced a reduction of 15 per cent. in settlers' rates from the Pacific Coast states. This has been done with a view to obtaining more immigrants for Western Canada from the settlers resident on the Pacific slope south of the boundary.

Polish Feeling Awakens

London.—A despatch to the Daily Mail says:

For the first time since Napoleon's invasion of Russia a hundred years ago the White Eagle of Poland is raising its head and looking to the threatened conflict between Austria and Russia to free the Polish nation from the hated Russian yoke.

While the eyes of Europe are riveted on the battlefields of Thrace and Macedonia, a great national movement is spreading in Poland. It seems to unite all the Poles in common action for the possible outbreak of hostilities between Russia and Austria. The Polish nation numbers twenty-five million, of whom twelve million are Russian subjects, and over six million Austrian subjects. There are two million Poles in America.

The information upon which the correspondent bases the foregoing is somewhat slim, being to the effect that meetings are taking place all over Galicia with a view to removing the political differences existing between the different parties in Poland and between the Poles and Russians.

SUFFRAGETTE IS FREED

Miss Gladys Evans Has Had Punishment Enough, Holds Magistrate

Dublin.—Miss Gladys Evans, the militant suffragette, who was rearrested October 23 for failing to report to the police, was discharged, the magistrate holding that the six days she had remained in jail was sufficient punishment.

Miss Evans, who was sentenced August 7 to five years in prison for incitement, is out on license. After her release again today she declared that no matter how often she was arrested and punished she would not report herself to the police.

NEW SUFFRAGETTE PHASE

Australian Women Resist Law Against Long Hats

Sydney, N.S.W.—For wearing hats that protruded too far, most of them prominent in society, four women were convicted and fined today in a Sydney court. They went to jail rather than pay their fines, declaring they would not submit to iniquitous and unnecessary legislation.

The city authorities face a situation similar to that growing out of the suffragette demonstrations in England, as the women assert that if further arrests and imprisonment are ordered because of the hatpin ordinance they will declare a hunger strike in jail.

Coal Fields in North

Vancouver.—Malloch of the Dominion geological survey, Ottawa, who has just returned from the Ground Hog basin, a new coal field in the north, says:

The field is hardly so extensive as at first supposed and is somewhat cut by faulting. There promises, however to be an enormous tonnage, available for mining if the coal can be described as an anthracite, picked samples running at 35 to 85 per cent in fixed carbon. One Vancouver company which is doing quite a lot of development will keep a party of workmen there during the winter.

Canvass of Volunteers in Vancouver

Vancouver.—In view of the possibility of a conflict in Europe, members of the volunteer militia in Vancouver during the last few days have been quietly approached with a view to ascertaining whether or not they are ready to go out to fight. The canvass of the men has been carried out in the quietest manner possible, much in the same manner it was done before the calling of the colonial forces together at the time of the Boer war.

Heroism Honored

London.—The king has awarded the Edward medal (second-class) to Ernest Thackeray, who entered a man hole in a blast furnace at Scunthorpe, to rescue a fellow workman named Lightowler, who was overcome by gas. Lightowler was dead when he was taken from the manhole, and Thackeray was unconscious till the next day.

Bob Service Off to Balkans

Toronto.—Robert W. Service, author of "Songs of the Soudough," and other poems and stories of the Yukon and the west, is off to the Balkans in the hope of seeing some of the fighting between Turkey and the Balkan States. He will leave New York on Friday.

IMMIGRATION TO AUSTRALIA

In Seven Months 95,592 Went to Colony But in Same Time 45,623 Left

Ottawa.—According to official reports received here the Australian commonwealth during the first seven months of this year received 95,592 immigrants, while no less than 45,623 left the colony, thus showing a net gain in the immigration of only 49,969 during the period stated. Of the total arrivals $3,640 were British, the balance being composed of Germans, Italians, Russians, Greeks, Danes and a limited number of Austrians and colored people. The activity of some of the Australian states in sending capable officers to Great Britain and the extensive circulation of the immigration literature, are in the main, responsible for the increased figures. All the third class accommodations on the principal lines of steamers leaving London for the Australian ports have been booked for several months ahead.

It is estimated that the present year will constitute a record as regards the number of immigrants landing in the commonwealth.

Calgary Seeks More Lines

Calgary.—Strong effort to induce the C.P.R. to construct a number of extensions which will in effect form a railway belt of the territory contiguous to Calgary, will be made by the Calgary board of trade. Following are the extensions and branch lines which the board will strive to have the C.P.R. build:

A branch from a point at, or near Calgary to a point at, or near, Cowley and then south-easterly.

A branch from a point at, or near Blackie, to a point on the Aldersyde-Lethbridge line, to a point on the Suffield-Kipp line, at or near township 12, range 15 west of the fourth meridian.

The extension of the Suffield-Kipp line in a north-easterly direction to a point near the mouth of Red Deer River to connect with the Swift Current-Bassano line.

Adopt Metric Carat

New York.—Fifty leading jewellers of the United States voted to adopt the metric carat as the standard of weight for diamonds. Under the new standard a carat will weigh 200 milligrammes; under the old it weighed 205 milligrammes. The international carat is in use all over the world, except in England, Holland, Belgium and the United States. A committee was appointed to ask congress to make it the only legal carat in the country.

Edmonton to St. Paul

Moose Jaw.—Next spring a through train between Edmonton and St. Paul will be put on over the Outlook branch which was opened last week. It will be a fast service and will shorten the time between those two cities by some twenty hours. Already the freight traffic over that branch is very heavy, over one hundred cars being received in one day from the north.

Offers a Third Cup

Chicago.—Sir Thomas Lipton will offer a third cup to be sailed for on the Great Lakes, according to announcement he made here at a luncheon given him by Chicago yachtsmen. The naming of the class in which the competition will be held, was left to a committee. Sir Thomas already is the donor of the Lipton trophy and the Columbia Yacht Club cup.

Railway Board Coming West

Ottawa.—The first autumn Western sitting, the Railway Commission has held within recent years, will commence at Winnipeg November 11. The Board will also include in its itinerary Lethbridge, Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Calgary, Le Pas, Edmonton, Nelson, Vancouver and Victoria. A sitting will be held in Port William on the 8th.

Calgary Gets Valuable Collection

London, Ont.—The city of Calgary is to be the recipient of James Turner's famous collection of naturalist specimens. J. L. Moody of that city having purchased it from the London owners for the Calgary museum. The specimens of birds, animals and curiosities have been collected for the last half century.

Should Study Labor Conditions

Ottawa.—F. C. Wade, K.C., president of the Industrial Peace Association, in an address before members of the board of trade advised a deeper interest and more study of the labor situation by the general public in Canada as one of the solutions of industrial difficulties.

THE MARKET REPORT

Weekly Grain Letter Supplied by Thompson, Sons &amp; Co., Grain Merchants, Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Oct. 23rd, 1912.—The world's wheat market during the past week has been fluttering between the fear of the influence to advance prices on the part of possible developments in the European war, and the fact that abundance of wheat and other grain has been produced this year in Europe and North America, and the prospect that the next wheat crop in India and in the wheat growing countries of the southern hemisphere may also turn out large yields.

For some days after the date of our last weekly review, there was a generally easier feeling in all wheat markets, and the strong market and sharp advance that took place from the 9th to the 14th inst. with its subsequent sharp reaction, was nearly passing out of mind. Yesterday and today, however, a renewal of the war scare sentiment has occurred and given prices another boost, and from the close of American and Canadian markets on Monday until the close of today prices show advances of 1 1/2 to 2c. per bushel, and roughly they are 1c. higher than they closed this day week. Naturally in the present situation of things there must be thousands of merchants, millers and bakers, who desire to increase their holdings of the different grains.

Wheat ... 3,262,648,000 3,042,400,000
Corn ... 3,594,574,000 2,236,348,000
Oats ... 4,269,020,000 3,536,340,000
Rye ... 1,382,855,000 1,258,560,000

These figures include all world's crops except the Argentine, Australia and Chile.
In our Winnipeg market trade during the week has been active and demand usually good. The movement of grain from the west is now the largest on record. In the last seven days there have been inspected at Winnipeg 7034 cars of wheat against 5693 cars in same period last year. This means that there are over a million bushels of wheat per day rolling past Winnipeg, besides from 250 to 300 cars per day, composed of oats, barley and flax. The big movement has begun to cause accumulation in the terminal elevators at Fort William and Port Arthur. Last week there was an increase of 2,191,592 bushels of wheat at these points, and the total amount in store was 8,010,226 bushels against 5,898,110 bushels a year ago. The shipments were 3,877,051 bushels against 4,285,775 bushels same week last year. The percentage of No. 1 Grade, or tough wheat coming along is now much less than it was two or three weeks ago. Today's cash prices are 1 No. 1, 91c; 2 No. 1, 88c; 3 No. 1, 87c; No. 4 wheat, 83 1/2c; No. 5, 74c; No. 6, 63c; Feed wheat, 58c; No. 1 Alberta Red Winter, 91c; No. 2 A.R., 88c; No. 3 A.R., 87c. These prices are for cars just past, Winnipeg, cars actually in store Fort William are worth 1c. to 1c. more. Futures closed Oct. 92c; Nov., 90 1/2c; Dec., 87 1/2c; May, 92 1/2c.

Oats

The receipts of oats are liberal and demand is good but not urgent and prices are about unchanged on the week. Today's prices are No. 2 C.W., 38 1/2c; 3 C.W., 37c; No. 1 P.d., 37 1/2c; 1 P.d., 37c; 2 P.d., 36c. Futures closed Oct., 38 1/2c; Nov., 36c; Dec., 34 1/2c.

Barley

The barley market is a little easier under large receipts but demand is fair. Today's prices are No. 2, 55 1/2c; No. 4, 51 1/2c; Rejected, 47 1/2c; Feed, 47c.

Flax

The flax market has suffered another decline of about 4c. on the week. Receipts are large and quality is good. Today's prices are No. 1 N.W. Canadian, 134c; No. 2 C.W., 132c; Futures closed Oct., 132 1/2c; Nov., 134 1/2c; Dec., 129c.

All prices are based on delivery in store Fort William, Port Arthur and Duluth.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON VI.—FOURTH QUARTER, FOR NOV. 10, 1912.

Text of the Lesson, Hos. vii.—Memory Verses, 2—Golden Text, Isa. v. 11 (R.V.)—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

I am in doubt about this chapter being the one assigned for the world's temperance Sunday, but it is the one on the printed slip of lessons for the year, and we will find a profitable study by taking some statements from the whole book, which we must consider in order to understand this chapter. There being no memory verses, I have suggested verse 2, because our great failure, as well as theirs is that we do not consider Isa. 1, 3; v. 13; xlv. 19; Mark vi. 52. As to our own doings, they are the great hindrance and keep so many from turning to God (Hos. v. 4 and margin). As to the king, made glad by lies and wickedness, joining hands with scorners and giving himself bottles of wine (verses 3-7). Ahaz would fill the bill perfectly (II Chron. xxviii, 1-4, 19). Pride, drunkenness, rebellion against God, giving strength to strangers and unclean and manifest physical failure (verses 9, 10, 13, 14) are some characteristics of the drunkard set forth in these verses.

In verses 11, 16, we see reliance upon human help instead of upon God, and we are reminded of the many cures for drunkenness tried in homes for inebriates, when there is only One that can really deliver. He is always ready to have mercy and may be heard saying to the drunkard and to every sinner, "Thou hast destroyed thyself, but in Me is thine help" (vi. 6; xlii, 9). Israel, here called Ephraim, is spoken of in many ways and by many figures regarding their turning away from the Lord, and these words are true also of all sinners. "Destroyed for lack of knowledge, forgotten the law of God, left off to take heed to the Lord, have sown the wind and shall reap the whirlwind, have plowed wickedness and shall reap iniquity" (iv. 6, 10; vii, 7; x. 13). The cry of the Lord to the wandering ones to return to Him is heard in such words as these: "Return unto the Lord thy God, for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity. Take with you words and turn to the Lord. I will heal their backsliding; I will love them freely" (xlv. 1, 2, 4).

Two remarkable figures describing the professed people of God in their wanderings from Him are, "A cake not turned." "An empty vine bringing forth fruit unto himself" (viii, 8; x. 1), suggesting the life that is right outwardly, but wrong on the other side, and also the life which seeks only its own happiness. Drunkards, opium fiends and such like are of all people, apt to be the most selfish and unreasonable and rebellious, counting all others foolish and mad, joined to their idols, and desiring to be let alone (ix. 7; iv, 16). Yet for even such there is deliverance if they will only turn to the Lord. Prophecy has become to me a fascinating study since I began to receive it as a light shining in a dark place—the words of the Holy Spirit by holy men, that we might know what God is doing and is going to do, written for our learning that we through patience and comfort of the Scriptures might have hope (II Pet. i. 19-21; Amos iii. 7; Rom. xv. 4); since I have also found that He, Jesus Christ Himself, and His people Israel are the center of all the prophecy and that everywhere His and their glorious future is predicted as bringing blessing to the whole world (Acts x. 43; Rev. xix, 10; Isa. lx, 13; xlii, 1-3). In all prophecy He, Israel, pleads with them, rebukes them, but always tells of a glorious future, when they shall see the evil no more, after they shall have truly repented and received their Messiah.

We might not have thought that Hos. xi. 1, had any reference to Christ. "When Israel was a child, then I loved him, and called my Son out of Egypt." If we had not read it in Matt. ii, 15. But everywhere there are such plain or hidden references to Him. See His and their glorious resurrection in chapter vi, 2; 3. "After two days will He revive us. In the third day He will raise us up, and we shall live in His sight. His righteousness is prepared as the morning."

In the revised version that last clause is "sure as the morning." Rotherham translates it, "Like the dawn is His coming forth assured." And another translation is, "His coming is as certain as the dawn." It is perfectly in accordance with Heb. ii, 7; Heb. x, 37. "Though it tarry, wait for it, because it will surely come, it will not tarry." "For yet a little while, and He that shall come will come and will not tarry." In the context of these two and in two other places we have the four times repeated saying: "The just shall live by faith" (Heb. ii, 4; Rom. i, 17; Gal. iii, 11; Heb. x, 38). May we follow on diligently to know the Lord until we see Him face to face.

The words in Hos. xlii, 14; concerning death and the grave takes us to Isa. xxv, 8 and on to I Cor. xv, 26, 54, 55; Rev. xxi, 4, when the last enemy, death, shall be destroyed and from such words as these I feel authorized to say that God hates death. What more important work could we have for our souls than Hos. xlii, 6; "Turn thou to thy God. Keep mercy and judgment and wait on thy God continually." The message is not Hosens, but the word of the Lord by Hosea, who was contemporary with Isaiah (Hos. 1, 1, 2).

May be Another Strike

Calgary.—That a strike of mine workers in the Crow's Nest district would result unless the operators and employees settled their differences over yardage pay shortly was the opinion expressed by Clem Subba, president of the district 18, United Mine Workers of America. The miners have made several ineffectual attempts to have the differences submitted to a board of arbitration. The Crow's Nest pass coal companies is the company involved and a strike would directly affect 2,000 miners in the district.

The Shortest Way Out of A Difficulty

By JAMES D. ANDREWS

Major MacDonald, as the name indicates, of Scotch descent, was every inch a soldier. He claimed that army officers should be celibates.

But Major MacDonald could not enforce his opinions or their practice upon those under his command. While he restricted himself to celibacy, his officers were marrying and raising children, and many of the men in the ranks were doing the same thing. The consequence was that during several years when his command was located in one place it came to comprise nearly as many women and children as soldiers.

Then came the order to move. Even the major was not prepared for the increase of his military family and the herculean task of transporting the living impediments, to say nothing of furniture and baggage. The migration was from Fort W. to Fort J., and, since the command consisted of two companies and each company was allowed but one wagon, it required a dozen trips for both wagons to make the transfer.

WELCOMED HIM WITH CHEERS.

had their rights even as part of an army. The move was a trying one for all, and they had been some time settled in their new quarters before the garrison resumed its wanted good humor.

As soon as the furniture was in position and the trunks, boxes and barrels unpacked, the officers' wives—there were two captains and four lieutenants, all married—got together to fire blank cartridges or empty words at the major. They began by calling him a brute, a monster, a devil, but finally simmered down to applying no more disagreeable name to him than crusty old bachelor. Then the meeting resolved itself into a committee of the whole to express its dissatisfaction at the treatment it had received and take measures against its recurrence.

There was one dissenting voice in the clatter of tongues. Mrs. Captain Ferguson, a good natured, motherly woman, avowed that the major was right; that an army encumbered with women and children would be better equipped with blank cartridges; that the army was no place for them, and, being an encumbrance, they should bear patiently any scolding the commander chose to give them.

A couple of months after the begonia of Mrs. Ferguson—Miss Gwendolyn Braying, a young lady of nineteen—came out from the east to visit her aunt. When the major heard of her arrival he sniffed the air ominously. The ladies whom Mrs. Ferguson had reproved for their strictures on the major at once took notice, wondering how the new impediments—as they had come to facetiously style Miss Braying—would affect the major.

"Did you ask permission to have her come?" asked Mrs. Lieutenant Harkness of Mrs. Ferguson.

"I did not," replied Mrs. Ferguson. "I shall take care of her in every respect. She shall be no encumbrance upon the garrison."

"He'll get even with you," exclaimed Mrs. Captain Wetherby, shaking her head ominously.

To this Mrs. Ferguson did not deign a reply.

Miss Braying had scarcely had time to make the acquaintance of the ladies of the garrison before she was privately warned by a distance to keep herself as safe a distance as possible from the commander.

"What'll he do to me?" she asked.

"What'll he do? Why, what a question! Don't you know that he considers women a drawback to the command? If there was an article in the "regulations" to cover the case he'd convene a board of survey to condemn every one of us and make a bonfire of us."

"What an awful man!"

Now, it happened that Captain Ferguson soon after Miss Braying's arrival was promoted to be major and assigned to the command of Fort G., 100 miles south of Fort J. He had no sooner left the fort, his wife, children and niece in an ambulance and his effects in an army wagon, than Major MacDonald was heard to say, "There go five clingers and one soldier."

There was not a lady at Fort J. who did not envy Mrs. Ferguson the change, but all had at least the satisfaction of her going that they would feel the more freedom in abusing Major MacDonald.

About a week after the departure of the Ferguson's Major MacDonald received an order from Washington directing him to inspect the army stations in the vicinity and report on their condition. Turning over the command to the next officer in rank, he departed with a single orderly and remained away a fortnight.

After this the major was continually making inspections, remaining away from his command on each tour from a few days to a few weeks. His departure was always hailed with delight by the ladies at Fort J., and his return was regretted, for during his absence they ceased to feel that they were a necessary evil and breathed freely.

"I wish," said Mrs. Lieutenant Wetherby, "the government would keep him inspecting till he came to the age of retirement."

"And I wish," said Mrs. Lieutenant Gunther, "that some woman would get him, load him down with baggage and he'd be ordered to move at five minutes' notice."

One day when the major was off on his fifth tour of inspection Captain Harrison, who was in command of the post, confided to his wife a secret. MacDonald was not going away from his command on inspection duty at all. He was simply absenting himself without leave.

"You don't mean it? Where does he go?"

"Nobody knows. I suspect he may have secret orders to investigate something."

"That's not usual in the army. At least in time of peace. There's no secret service except in war."

"That's all the explanation I have to give," replied the husband. "Be sure not to say a word about what I've told you."

"Of course not." And as soon as the captain left her she went into Mrs. Wetherby's quarters and told her the story. In half an hour it was known to the wife of every officer of the garrison.

The next time Major MacDonald went out on a tour of inspection he took a new uniform with him that he had just received from a New York tailor and a trunk full of other clothing.

He had been gone several days when an army wagon was driven into the fort and a considerable load of brand new furniture and a dozen trunks were dumped in front of the major's quarters.

The episode occasioned a greater commotion than an attack of a thousand Indians. Every woman, including the children, in the fort stood on the parade gazing at the pile, and there was a clatter of tongues that would have drowned the post band.

"I'll tell you what we'll do," said Mrs. Gunter. "Let's bring all our empty trunks, boxes, suit cases and handbags and put them on the pile."

"Wouldn't it be mutiny?" asked one of the more timid ladies.

"Mutiny! There's no such thing as mutiny for us. We're not in the army. Come on!"

Every woman rushed to her quarters and back, she and her older children carrying articles to swell the major's pile. When it was so high that they must be tossed upward to get them in position it stopped growing, but the impedimenta was enough to drive a quartermaster insane.

The next afternoon a smart little wagon was driven into the fort, and who should appear on the back seat but Major MacDonald and Miss Braying! When the officer saw the pile in front of his quarters his brow darkened for a moment; then he broke into a laugh. Several ladies were on the parade who hastened to welcome him back, and he presented his companion to them as Mrs. MacDonald.

Both the groom and the bride entered into the spirit of the joke that had been perpetrated, and the news spreading that their commander had returned a married man, the garrison poured from their quarters and welcomed him with cheers. Then all took hold, separating the additions from the real impediments, and carried the latter into the quarters of the bride and groom.

In the evening all was ready for a wedding reception, for some of the boxes the groom had sent contained eatables and drinkables, and there was a merry time at Fort J. Some one proposed the health of the newly married couple with the words:

"May their belongings never diminish!"

The major replied, pledging himself thereafter to consider the wives, children, cats, poodles, furniture, trunks, boxes, handbags, beds, bedding and wearing apparel, a part of the paraphernalia of war to be respected accordingly.

"You ladies," he added in conclusion, "are indebted to Mrs. Ferguson for a happy outcome from your troubles. Since my marriage she has confessed that she brought her niece out here with a view to making a married man of me and thus putting me in the same boat with the rest of you."

GOLD PAVED STREETS.

Wealth May Be Washed Out of the Roads at Axim, Africa.

Travelers assure us that at Axim, on the Gold Coast of Africa, gold may be picked up on the streets. One Briton, naturally, thought of this as a mere figure of speech, but his informant immediately made a woman servant to go out into the main street, gather a bucketful of road scrapings and work it for gold dust.

In ten minutes, according to this account, the servant returned with two galvanized-iron buckets, one filled with road scrapings and the other with water. She also brought three or four wooden platters varying in size from a large plate to a saucer.

Remembering several handfuls of the road scrapings and placing them in the largest platter, the woman picked out and threw aside the large stones, pebbles and bits of stick and loosened the remainder by sprinkling it with water from the other bucket. This enabled her to remove further refuse.

The residuum was put into the next smaller platter and the process repeated until there was a quantity of uniform stuff ready for treatment. This she sprinkled freely with water and by a deft circular movement of the platter brought the small gravel outward where it could be thrust over the edge.

When this operation had been repeated three or four times the stuff, which now looked more like mud than anything else, was ready for treatment in a smaller platter. Here the same circular movements resulted in the discarding of further undesirable elements.

At last, in the smallest platter, the stuff had resolved itself into a small quantity of black sand. This was carefully washed and sifted by the aid of circular movements, and at last a dexterous twist brought the sand into a crescent on the platter, when there appeared on the outmost edge a thin gold rim. This was unmistakably gold. The whole operation had consumed half an hour, and the result was about a shilling's worth of gold dust—Harder's.

A SUPPER FOR TWO.

Taken in Russian Grand Duke Style It Cost Just $10,000.

All the records made by American multimillionaires have been broken by a Russian grand duke, Boris Vladimirovitch, who has just paid $2,000 for a supper for two. He recently invited a friend to sup with him at Ernest's, the most fashionable restaurant in St. Petersburg, and told the manager that he wanted to have the most expensive meal possible. The happy manager told him that he would do his best.

"What are your average takings per night?" asked the grand duke.

"Two hundred pounds, excellency."

"Very well; request all your customers to leave and then serve us. You will add the sum of $200 to my bill."

This was done, and supper began; but, although the grand duke ordered the choicest food and the most expensive wines, he found that the amount spent still seemed absurdly small. Calling for the manager, he asked him if he would consent to have his ears boxed for $100. After some hesitation the latter accepted, but after receiving a dozen hearty smacks he declared that he had made enough money for one night. The bill was then brought and read as follows:

Compensation for sending away customers	$200
Supper for two persons	500
Boxing manager's ears twelve times	1,300
Total	$2,000

Boris Vladimirovitch cheerfully paid the bill, which is now one of his proudest possessions.—Pearson's Weekly.

A Pompeii Public House.

The recent excavations at Pompeii in the ancient "Street of Abundance" have resulted in such extensive finds that the life of the street can be almost entirely reconstructed. The principal discovery is that of a huge thermopolium, a kind of public house at which hot drinks were sold. This is in a state of perfect preservation, and an exact idea can now be obtained of a Roman place of refreshment. There has been found a row of wine jars so placed that it seems the vintner was in the act of pouring wine from one into the other when overtaken by the catastrophe. There was also an ornamentally closed cauldron, still containing water.

Authors' Pensions in Australia.

Authors who would like to have pensions ought to emigrate to Australia. The commonwealth parliament votes £700 a year to the "Australian literary fund," but there are not enough applicants to use up the money. Australian authors are either too few or too prosperous. The comic papers are making merry at the discovery that the latest beneficiaries from the fund are a clergyman who has published nothing—not even a volume of sermons—and a "business man" who, as Disraeli put it, is "a gentleman from whom business has retired."—London Chronicle.

Canal Zone Footwear.

The rowdier soldiers, with cloth shoes, known as Spanish alpargatas, and worn by practically all the European and colored laborers in the canal zone, are imported all the way from Spain in such quantities that they can be retailed at the low price of 20 cents a pair. The European laborer wears them twelve months in the year on the isthmus, and over 1,000,000 pairs are sold annually by the commissary. Alpargatas are durable and have been adopted by the isthmian bathers as the most convenient form of beach shoe.—Commissary Bulletin.

ASKS NEWSPAPER HELP.

The Stout and Husky Jurymen Who Are Afraid of His Wife.

It was after 10 o'clock at night and the jury had just been discharged. A stout jurymen came over to the reporter's table. He had a worried look.

"You're an Evening News man, aren't you?"

"Yes."

"Are you going to report this case?"

"Yes."

"For tomorrow's paper?"

"Yes."

"Would you mind putting in a line saying that the jury was out until 10 o'clock?"

"I'll mention it if you wish."

"I certainly hope you will. You have no idea how much I want you to. You are a young man and probably you're not married yet, but some day you'll have a wife and then you'll understand."

"Your wife jealous, is she?"

"Not exactly that, but she's very particular, and if I don't account for every minute of my time away from her she chides me."

"That's too bad."

"You bet it is." The stout man mopped his brow with his handkerchief.

"When I was drawn on the jury she knew her doubts, and nothing would convince her that I wasn't putting up some game until she had come to the courthouse and seen me actually sitting in the jury box."

"She did that, eh?"

"Yes; I saw her standing inside the big doors there, and it gave me such a shock that I clear lost track of the case. The others have been explaining to me about the part of the testimony that I missed, and that is what has kept us from bringing in our verdict sooner. She's a woman, so she won't know about the law's delays, and that will mean more trouble when I show up at home tonight. But maybe I can avert it if I tell her that the paper tomorrow will verify my statement."

"Cheer up, old chap; we'll help you out."

"You'll not forget?"

"No."

"Then I'll never forget your kindness, never!"

Buttoning his overcoat and bracing back his shoulders as if for an ordeal, the beleaguered jurymen started for home.—Newark News.

Worse Than a Fish Story.

A Chicagoan returned from a vacation in the Adirondacks and appeared at his office, his face beautifully browned. For a month before leaving he had been inspired spasmodically to tell of his prospective fishing trips. The return was marked by silence.

"Well," he was asked, "what did the biggest one weigh?"

The ex-vacationer blushed.

"I was only out a little," he confessed. "I went to my brother's farm, and he made me work in the hayfields."

The entire staff, knowing its man, gazed at him in amazement.

"He made you work?" repeated the office boy. "Ray, Mark, you're a worse liar now than you ever were before."—Chicago Tribune.

Paying Their Way In.

The young couple had taken a house in the suburbs of Boston for the summer, and they were besieged with company.

The men were enjoying the cool of the evening on the piazza when one of the party remarked to his host:

"Do you know, Fred, there's something the matter with your front gate? It took all my strength to open it. It needs oiling or shavling or something."

"Neither one, old man. It's all right. Every one who comes through that gate pumps two buckets of water into the tank up there on the hill."—Youth's Companion.

True Enough.

Talman—Could you loan me $5, Bill? Smallman—Sorry, old man, but you can see for yourself I'm pretty short just now.—Washington Star.

The Gun Might Help.

Footpad (with revolver)—Give me your victim, quick!

Married Victim—Certainly, my good man. Come with me and we'll ask my wife for it.—Boston Transcript.

What She Did.

"What did your wife say when she saw you dance three times with that pretty young woman?"

"Nothing. She just bolted the party."—Detroit Free Press.

A Juvvies Adept.

"When he owned his picture show Rively paid $300 for a machine that makes fifty-nine different noises."

"Too bad! He might have borrowed our baby."—Judge.

Deserved.

Proud Ma—There isn't another person in the city can play like Alfonso. Uncle Gustave—Is there any other person who would want to?—Exchange.

SATIRIC "MARMADUKE"

Witty Sayings of London Truth's Epigrammatist.

For something like twenty-two years readers of London Truth have enjoyed the quaint aphorisms of "Marmaduke," the pen name of Charles Edward Jerrold, who has just retired.

Not long ago "Marmaduke" collected in a single volume some of the epigrams and aphorisms which had appeared in Truth. A few typical specimens follow:

"He who is drunk in a first class carriage has had a fit. He who has a fit in a third class is drunk."

"There are few Englishmen now who have a library in them; many who have ledgers."

"Man is the lord of creation; woman the lady of recreation."

"The ordinary English man and woman when they go to France look upon it as a holiday trip around the improper."

"The English distrust the clever. They conceive that cleverness is next to ungodliness."

"The middle ages have been replaced by the middle class ages."

"The ordinary Englishman is a man of few words, and these are generally disagreeable."

"The English are divided into three classes. These are the aspiring and the perishing. The middle class is composed of those who both aspire and perspire."

"Ability will out—in England, generally at the elbows."

"No man is a hero to his valet, but many a man is a valet to his hero."

Lies of great men all remind us. We can make our lies sublime. And, departing, leave behind us falsehoods on the sands of time.

WOMAN'S LOT IN PERSIA.

A Land Where Mothers Weep at the Birth of a Daughter.

While the woman of China and India is in the forefront of the fight for better conditions, her sister of Persia seems to be in no better plight than she was a century ago. In Je Sais Tout appears an extract from the report of Henry R. d'Allemagne on woman's sphere in Persian life.

"The birth of a girl in Persia," says d'Allemagne, "is received with pity, even by her mother. Why should I not weep over my little girl, who will have to endure the same miseries as I have known? she cries. 'She is of so little value! Who knows whether her father will not one day throw her out of a window and so silence forever her wailing? And why should he be annoyed? He knows he may do such a thing with impunity. No one cares any more than if it was a cat which had to suffer for his wrath.'"

"From the hour of birth the social inequality between the sexes asserts itself. Infant mortality is very high owing to the ignorance and inexperience of the women. Since celibacy is considered a disgrace, girls are often married as young as ten or twelve years. In order to reduce the rate of infant mortality some men have suggested that the mother should have a finger cut off every time she lost a child. This cruelty, however, has not been adopted. But that it should have entered into the minds of any Persian men is significant enough."

Prehistoric City Discovered.

Professor Hiram Bingham, director of the Yale expedition to Peru, reports among the archaeological discoveries a number of Inca or pre-Inca cities, including Macchu Pichu, a city probably built by the "megalithic race," which preceded the Incas. The ruins are on an almost inaccessible ridge, 2,000 feet above the Urubamba river. They are of great beauty and magnificence, and include palaces, baths, temples and about 150 houses. Carefully cut blocks of white granite, some of them twelve feet long, were used in the construction of the walls.—Indianapolis News.

Chance For a Big Fortune.

There is a handsome fortune awaiting the person who will invent a method of curing hams and bacon from which the skin has been removed. Albert Halstead, American consul at Birmingham, reports that the increasing use of pigskin as leather and its tendency to advance in price have made the leather manufacturers cast wistful eyes at the skin that is wasted by being left on pork products. The Leather Trades Review estimates that there is a yearly loss of skins amounting to about $3,000,000 in Great Britain and Ireland alone.

Cure For Snake Bites.

A cyclist riding through a forest in England stopped and sat down to rest, when he suddenly felt a bite which proved to be that of an adder. The poison took effect so soon that he collapsed by the road, but was fortunately found soon and taken to a doctor, who saved him by using permanganate of potash. This chemical is now frequently carried in the pocket by travelers in countries where snakes abound, together with a lancet for working the crystals into the tiny punctures made by the snake's fangs.

Rough on the Chinamen.

The Sikh policemen of Rhabghat speak the language of nobody at all in the city except themselves, but from the standpoint of the people of the settlement they are ideal police, for in case of a row between a white man and a Chinese they do not bother to reason or figure out the case, but simply belt the native over the head. The Chinese hate and fear the Sikhs, and when a native riot occurs, and riots are not infrequent, the men from India are the first point of attack.—Argonaut.

For the Children

Little Miss Mavis Yorke, Child Actress and Dancer.

© by American Press Association.

The charming little girl here pictured with a Cupid's bow in her hand is Miss Mavis Yorke, a talented English child actress and dancer, for whom a great future is predicted. Little Miss Yorke has attracted wide attention in London by her sweetness, grace and beauty. She dances like a veritable fairy—so lightly she trips that she seems to float in the air. Dancing, by the way, is an excellent exercise for young folks, as it promotes grace of movement and tends to eliminate awkwardness. It can easily be overdone, however, and in that case is a positive harm. Of course not every boy or girl either, for that matter, can become so proficient as Mavis Yorke, for in addition to great natural ability she has had the benefit of expert instruction. The photograph from which this picture was made was taken in the Botanical gardens, Regent's park, London.

Hurdy Gurdy Man. As a fun producer, the game of the hurdy gurdy man ranks high and is always a great success at afternoon parties. To play it seat the players in a circle and let one of them be chosen as hurdy gurdy man. Then ask each of the others what musical instrument he will be. After all have chosen the hurdy gurdy man begins to sing:

I'm a hurdy gurdy man.
I'm a hurdy gurdy man.
You must do the best you can
To please the hurdy gurdy man.

As he sings he accompanies himself on an imaginary piano, and the others sing with him and accompany themselves on the instruments they have chosen—for instance, the boy who has chosen to be the drum makes the motions of drumming, and the boy who has chosen to be a band organ grinds an imaginary band organ, and so on.

After a few moments the hurdy gurdy man stops playing the piano and begins playing some other instrument. If he plays the drum the drummer must instantly leave off playing the drum and begin playing the piano, the instrument the hurdy gurdy man has just stopped playing. In a moment the hurdy gurdy man changes to the fife and the fife player immediately takes up the drum, and so it goes on. The hurdy gurdy man changing ever faster and faster till finally he takes up the piano again, whereupon all the players go back to their original instruments, and the game begins all over again.

Call Ball.

This game is good fun, and is best played out of doors with eight or ten players. One is chosen to toss the ball, and each player is given a number.

The players take positions not farther than the ball can easily be thrown. The tosser then throwing the ball calls one of the players by his number—5, 10, 2 or whatever he may choose. The player with that number must run and catch the ball, not letting it bound more than once.

A good tosser keeps the players on the alert, guessing who will be called next, and by sometimes calling one at a good distance from the ball lends excitement to the game.

Kitty Don't.

Such a mischief loving lassie,
It tries one's patience quite
To watch the chimp, she cannot do
A single thing that's right.

"Is 'Kitty, don't say that, dear?'"
"Oh, Kitty, don't do so!"
These are the words that greet her
Whenever she may go.

When just at dusk one evening
She climbed upon my knee
In playful mood I asked her name
"Why, Kitty, course!" said she.

"Yes, Kitty, but the rest, dear?"
She hung her curly head.
The rogue, for just a moment,
Then "Kitty Don't," she said.

M. F. Earp spent the week end at Calgary.

G. M. Glover is spending a few days in Calgary.

Sunday brought a touch of winter which is now followed by sunshine.

Mr. W. A. House is now occupying his newly erected bungalow on Pacific and Minerva streets.

The Charters implement building has been moved to its new location on the corner of Neptune and Atlantic streets.

A. G. Spooner is showing a very nice line of suits in all the latest colorings. He will be pleased to have you call and get acquainted.

The volume of grain which for the past two months has been pouring into Vulcan, has during the past week slightly decreased, owing partly to the elevators being full and partly to the inability to get cars.

The dance at Sunny Glen school house on the 6th inst., was so well attended that the management have decided to give another dance on the 20th. All who attended last week's dance at Sunny Glen had a fine time.

Electric lights are now being installed in several of Vulcan's enterprising business establishments. We understand that the next place of business to be lighted will be the Bank of Hamilton. Our progressive blacksmith, C. W. Robson, has had his shop wired for some time.

Word has reached us that D. F. Lee, who together with his family will make their future home in Spokane, is filling a contract with a theatrical company of that city. Mr. Lee possesses a very fine voice, and with very little training he ought to emerge a first-class actor. Tee Review wishes Mr. Lee every success in this direction.

The blacksmiths and woodworkers along the Calgary-Macleod and Kipp-Aldersyde branches of the C.P.R. have formed an association. A. N. McIntyre, of Carmangay, was appointed secretary of the Kipp-Aldersyde branch. At a meeting in Vulcan a new tariff of prices was fixed which will be printed and displayed in all the shops on this line of railway.

The physicians of Nanton, Cayley, High River, Okotoks, Blackie and Vulcan are uniting in the organization of a District Medical Society, for the study and discussion of medical and surgical topics. The meetings will probably be monthly and should prove of distinct benefit to the medical members. The organization meeting will be held in High River on Monday next.—High River Times.

The Secret Marriage

By Alfred Wilson Barrett

Ward, Lock & Co., Limited
London, Melbourne & Toronto

Miss Brooke, he said at last, don't think me mad if I ask you a very strange question; and he took up the morocco-covered book, opening it at the question which had so attracted his attention. Was this really written by your sister?

Violet stared at him, startled at the seriousness of his tone, but quite at a loss to understand him.

Yes, certainly, she replied. I was with her when she wrote it.

But is it really her own handwriting, Easton pursued. Her usual hand?

Violet looked over his shoulder for a moment, her dark eyes wide open. Yes, she said. One could hardly mistake it. Her's was a very characteristic handwriting, poor darling, with all those flourishes.

The Major looked down at the page before him. It was true. The dead girl's handwriting was striking, and difficult to imitate. Yet it had been imitated. The note in his pocket told him so.

He looked up at last, his bronzed face pale, his clear eyes troubled. Miss Brooke, he said slowly, I must tell you something. I must make you a confession. And I fear that perhaps you may never forgive me. My only excuse is the old weak one, I did it for the best.

Violet Brooke stared at him, her face whitening, too. Did what? she asked. What do you mean?

The Major drew out his pocket book and took the scrap of paper from it slowly. Forgive me, he said, I am going to tell you something rather startling. Can you bear a shock. Are you strong enough to hear something connected with your poor sister's death?

Violet, white as a sheet, stood looking at him for a moment, trembling in every limb. Then she sank down upon the couch near her.

Yes, she replied faintly. Tell me everything. I—I always thought, I always feared that there was something behind.

Easton's eyes fell. There was, he said. And I have kept it back, fool that I was. But you will understand why I did so. Oh, I hope you will understand. Listen, he continued, holding out to her, with a shaking hand, the scrap of paper. When I found your poor sister that night I found this by her side. When you rushed past me to the bed, I was reading it. I put it in my pocket. I thought that it was written by her, and that it would hurt you to see it. That it was useless to show it to you or any one. She was dead, and—oh, forgive me. I thought it would only make you unhappy.

With wide-open eyes, Violet took the note from his fingers and read it. Then she looked at him, her face pale and stern.

And you thought she wrote this? To me she asked.

Easton bowed his head. Yes, he said. It was there. It was signed by her. How could I think other-wise?

Violet looked at him still, her face softening a little as she noticed his distress.

Major Easton, she said, you did not know my sister—or me. You are right. How could you tell. If you had, you would have known that she, poor darling, would have died before she would have written those words to me. And that I would have died before I would have given her cause to—but, oh, you cannot understand! I do understand, cried Easton, overwhelmed. I know you loved her. I saw that while you played. I did

Uses Only Cuticura Soap for Prize Baby

"I have always used Cuticura Soap and no other for my baby, and he has never had a sore of any kind. He does not even chafe as most babies do. I feel that it is all owing to Cuticura Soap for he is fine and healthy, and when five months old won a prize in a baby contest. It makes my heart ache to go into so many homes and see a sweet faced baby with the whole top of its head a solid mass of scurf, caused by the use of poor soap. I always recommend Cuticura, and nine times out of ten the next time I see the mother she says 'Oh! I am so glad you told me of Cuticura.'" (Signed) Mrs. G. A. Selby, Redondo Beach, Calif.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound and imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed for ever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. ### How Careless

Jimmie Britt, not the pugilist, but the circus man, tells a story illustrating how soft-hearted and sympathetic some of the ringmasters are when the acrobats get hurt. The heroine of the story was a girl who did the four-horse act, the six-horse act, the trapeze, and the flying bar, for all of which she received the princely remuneration of forty dollars a week.

"One day she fell forty feet from the trapeze and landing precipitately and inadvertently on her left wrist, broke the bone near the elbow. The ringmaster ran up and sympathized as follows, with certain profane remarks which are here excluded:

"What in thunder do you mean by falling out of that trapeze? I'm a son of a gun, if some of your ginks don't try to put a crimp into this show every time we lift the tent!"

IN THE PANTRY OF ROYALTY

One Butler and Five Yeomen Take Care of the Silver and China

The pantries at Buckingham Palace consist of three large rooms on the ground floor, opposite the kitchens. In one is kept the silver in daily use, in another the china, and in the third the glassware is stored.

The three pantries are in charge of an official known as the pantry butler, who has five assistants, termed yeomen.

The duty of the pantry butler is to give out the silver, china and glass required daily for the royal tables and for afternoon tea; the pantry butler has also to see that all he gives out is returned to him after each meal.

The silver pantry is lined with mahogany glass framed cases, containing thousands of pounds' worth of silver plate. In one case there are two silver dinner services, containing several thousands of pieces of plate. There are six hundred plates of various sizes several hundred silver dishes, hundreds of silver spoons and forks, and a most valuable collection of old silver drinking mugs. Two of the latter were in the possession of Queen Elizabeth and are reputed to be worth $50,000.

In another case are four silver tea services, one of which was a gift to Queen Mary from the German empress and is generally used at afternoon tea, which is served in the queen's private boudoir.

Overnight the pantry butler makes out the list of silver, china and glass that will be required in the royal dining room for breakfast, luncheon and dinner the following day, and his assistants put out on the tables in each pantry the required articles of table service which are taken to the kitchen and dining room after being inspected by the pantry butler.

The bulk of the royal plate is kept at Buckingham Palace, so when the court moves, a large quantity of it has to be taken to Windsor, Balmoral, or wherever their majesties may go.

The pantry butler is responsible for the packing of the plate, and it is always conveyed from one royal residence to another in his charge. The plate is packed in steel lined boxes made of oak, with iron bands. In the center of the cover of each are the letters "G.R." surmounted by a crown. No china or glass has to be moved from Buckingham Palace, as a very large quantity of china or glass is kept in stock at all the royal residences.

The pantry butler is absolutely lord of his pantries, and none of the servants, with the exception of the pantry yeomen, is allowed to enter them without the butler's permission.

All the glassware used at the royal residence is of modern make, most of which now in use being purchased by the late king.

The Glory of the Mountain
How beautiful is the life of the woods and mountains! It has been well said that a mountain is a mystery especially if it be forest covered. What deep ravines and beetling crags does it not conceal, what rushing streams; and in the foothills are deep, silent pools, where grow the loveliest flowers, and where the deer come to drink, and sometimes a bear! On Passaconaway may be seen in the early summer that most beautiful of small wild flowers, the Mittenella; the petals are white at the outer edge, but toward the centre most delicately tinted. They cover the ground like a carpet, creeping among the ferns and mosses and the rich humus made of the fallen leaves of centuries. Then there is the Linnaea borealis, the favorite flower of the great naturalist Linnaeus, clinging to the moss with a complexion like a milkmaid; and oh! she is very, very sweet and agreeable. And you can find the checkerberry, the partridge berry, and the Indian pipe and the purple brunella, wild asters, and a host of other flowers.

Most glorious are the woods and mountains in the clear days of late September, when there has been a frost at night, just enough to show that the color fairies have been at work; then dark hemlock and white spruce serve but to enhance the rich coloring. You may walk or drive for miles amid the most gorgeous colors in the most bracing air, and under the bluest skies, and see the granite peak of Chocoma glistening in the sunlight. It is hard to say when the mountains and woods are most beautiful at all seasons, even amid the winter's snows when snow shoes and sleighing you go over the old routes once more, with the temperature below zero and the bright sun overhead.—H. Alexander Fussell in the Theosophical Truth.

Medical Women in Germany

It is stated that there are now 175 qualified medical women in Germany. They are distributed in the cities of Germany as follows: Berlin, 30; Munich, 7; Frankfurt on the Main, 5; Hamburg, 3; Düsseldorf, Breslau, Karlsruhe, Heilbronn, and Bad Elster, each 2; while a number of other places have one each. Most of the women doctors in Germany practise as specialists, especially in diseases of women and children. During the last few years, according to the British Medical Journal, the chances of medical women have steadily become more favorable in Germany. They often secure posts in hospitals, institutes, and asylums.

More About The Loading Platform

The present generation of Western farmers will never know the difficulties and vexations experienced by their predecessors in the earlier years when no one could get a carload of grain shipped in bulk except by loading it through an elevator. The system forced the majority of farmers to sell their grain to the elevator owners at arbitrary prices, and oftentimes to submit to heavy dockage and other annoyances, causing continual dissatisfaction. Now, however, the distribution of cars as fixed by the Grain Act and the use of the loading platform, provide facilities which enable the farmer to secure satisfactory treatment in the disposal of his grain, and the highest market prices at time of sale. Every farmer therefore, should more and more endeavor to use the loading platform in shipping his grain to the terminal elevators. It is the safeguard of the farmer's freedom in disposing of his grain to the best advantage for himself. If farmers refrain from using the loading platform freely, it might result in its being done away with, because railway companies and elevator owners are strongly opposed to it. It is easy to understand why elevator people desire the loading platform abolished. The railway people on their part say it delays the loading of cars and helps to ensure car shortage. This we know to be nonsense because frequently after cars are loaded, whether with grain, coal, lumber, or other merchandise, they are sidetracked for days and even weeks instead of being promptly moved forward to destination. It is engine shortage and shortage of competent train men that mostly causes grain blockades on railways and not lack of cars. Let every farmer therefore, do all he can to use the loading platform and become an independent shipper. In subsequent advertisements we will state in detail the savings and other advantages of direct loading into cars compared with loading through elevators.

We handle the farmers grain strictly on commission, make liberal advances on car bills of lading, supervise the grading at time cars are inspected, secure the highest prices at time of sale and make prompt returns when sold. Write us for shipping instructions and market information.

Give England Siberian Climate

Great Britain is taking seriously the fanciful scheme of Mr. Barker a Brooklyn inventor, to deflect the Gulf stream by a breakwater off the coast of Newfoundland. Newspapers are asking what the British government is going to do about it.

There can be no doubt, says the London Evening Press that serious trouble will follow any attempt to do up of what little comfort remains in our wretched climate.

It is true England's loss will be a gain to a part of the British Empire, for Canada will get the benefit of a change in the Atlantic currents, but that is small comfort to Britons, who will have to choose between a Siberian climate and emigration.

The plan which would cost about $200,000,000 is to build a breakwater 200 miles long in the eastern coast, thus deflecting the icy currents from Labrador. The Gulf stream would then be free to run north, conferring upon "The Mother of Snows," a radiant climate like that of France. The cold current could then turn south and refresh the parched shores of Africa. Meanwhile England has the cheerful prospect of getting a climate like Labrador, which is in the same latitude.

Excursions to Eastern Canada Via Canadian Northern Railway

Christmas fast approaches, bringing with it the thought of the folks back home and the wish to be with them once again, to share in their Yuletide celebrations. It may have been only last year since one returned, but still the magnetic influence of the old familiar hearth is making itself felt in a way that will not be suppressed.

Every Opportunity

Whether it be a trip to the East, South, or any other portion of the globe, every opportunity is at hand and open to all. As the weeks roll by new lines are being opened up all through the West. Settlers living in new towns, situated in outlying districts, hitherto beyond the pale of railroad development, suddenly awake and find within their grasp the transportation facilities, for which in many instances, they have been awaiting for years. The golden opportunity has arrived.

Today the Canadian Northern announces its twenty-second annual reduced excursion rates to the East, tickets to be on sale from Dec. 1 to 31 and good for return for three months. Extension privileges will be allowed at the end of this period if required, and stopovers are permitted at most points en route.

Besides the offering of extraordinary cheap rates, the Canadian Northern is able to add another inducement to the intending traveller in the way of a choice of routes. These are as follows: Through Winnipeg—through Port Arthur—by way of Duluth and Chicago—or lastly via St. Paul and Chicago. To the old seasoned travellers probably either of the routes through the United States will appear the most fascinating. To those intending to go this way, it may be interesting to know there is no trouble to be expected with the United States Customs, as baggage is sent through without examination.

The Canadian Northern is also offering a considerably lower rate to the Old Country and Europe, which will show a great difference between that and the ordinary fare. Tickets are good for five months' limit and will be on sale from Nov. 10.

The company has a great reputation for its dining car service, working on the plan of pay only for what one orders, and has recently received a number of new diners of the latest pattern. The Canadian Northern also announces very low excursion fares for the month of December to the Central States, to such points as Duluth, St. Paul, Chicago, Sioux City, Des Moines and Omaha, so that many lonely homesteaders bachelors from the States will have the opportunity of spending Christmas and three months at home.

SO DREADFUL WAS THE SUFFERING FROM ITCHING PILES

After Twenty Years of Pile Torture Relief and Cure Came With

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

You take no risk and you make no experiment when you use Dr. Chase's Ointment for piles. Many doctors still cling to the idea that nothing but an operation will effect a cure. But operations are expensive and dangerous, and often fall in their results. Some have been cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment after operations had failed.

Dr. Chase's Ointment truly has a wonderful record as a cure for piles and all itching skin diseases. Here is a case which was reported recently:

Mr. John P. Marshall, 14 Barnes road, St. John's, Nfld., writes: "For upwards of twenty years I was troubled terribly with itching piles; at times so bad that I was obliged to lay up, unable to attend to business. I tried many treatments without benefit, until I accidentally read of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and found at last a cure by using this ointment. I only used one box and part of a second one when I was completely cured, and have had no return of the piles. That was eighteen months ago, and needless to say, I attribute this cure to Dr. Chase's Invaluable Ointment."

Many sufferers from piles have tried so many scores of treatments that they cannot believe that cure is possible. In order to convince the skeptical we are always willing to send a sample box free to anyone who encloses a two-cent stamp to pay postage.

Gall Stones Cured After 12 Years

A Winnipeg lady has been cured of gall-stones after suffering from that painful complaint for twelve years. She had taken many treatments and many remedies but each and all proved failures, until she took SANOL, the already well-known remedy for Gall-stones, Kidney-stones, Gravel, Kidney trouble, Lumbago and other diseases caused by uric acid in the system. It was a great victory for SANOL. So grateful was this lady that she sent a great number of her friends to us to be treated and in every one of these cases the results have been most satisfactory.

We are willing and anxious to supply the name of this well-known lady. We have all records of cures in every town and locality in Canada and we would be able to refer you to some of our neighbors for an opinion on SANOL.

This remedy is manufactured only by the SANOL MANUFACTURING COMPANY OF CANADA, LTD., 977 Main street, Winnipeg. For sale by most leading druggists or direct from the makers at $1.50 per bottle.

Western Manufacture

Our west is bound to be a great manufacturing field. In the first place there is the certainty of an enormous consumptive demand of the very best class there. The population is increasing rapidly, the production of the land is also increasing, and the people have the means to sustain a large per-capita demand for manufactured goods. In the second place the west has water power and coal, and its means of transportation enlarged so that raw material from any source can be delivered at the factories. When the Panama canal comes into use Canada's western market will be brought within the range of British manufacturers' competition, and as the manufacturers of the western states are always to be reckoned with these Canadian manufacturers will require to be very alert to meet the conditions.

"PROUD AND GLAD"

Because Mother Looked So Well After Quitting Tea and Coffee.

A woman was almost distracted with dyspepsia and heart trouble.

Like thousands of others, the drug—caffeine—in coffee was slowly but steadily undermining her nervous system and interfering with natural digestion of food. (Tea is just as injurious as coffee because it contains caffeine, the poisonous drug found in coffee).

"For 30 years," she writes, "I have used coffee. Have always been sickly—had heart trouble and dyspepsia with ulcers in stomach and mouth so bad, sometimes, I was almost distracted and could hardly eat a thing for a week."

"I could not sleep for nervousness, and when I would lie down at night I'd bech up coffee and my heart would trouble me. It was like poison to me. I was thin—only weighed 125 lbs., when I quit coffee and began to use Postum."

"From the first day that belching and burning in my stomach stopped, I could sleep as soundly as anyone and after the first month, whenever I met any friends they would ask me what was making me so fleshy and looking so well."

"Sometimes, before I could answer quick enough, one of the children or my husband would say, 'Why, that is what Postum is doing for her'—they were all so proud and glad."

"When I recommend it to anyone I always tell them to follow directions in making Postum, as it is not good to taste if weak, but fine when it has the flavor and rich brown color."

Plea for Women Police

San Antonio (Texas)—Six of the wealthiest and most influential women of this city, leaders in society, philanthropic work and women's clubs, have petitioned the mayor and city council demanding that women be placed on the San Antonio police force.

The petitioners not only demand that women be numbered among the coppers, but they also have picked out beats for the proposed new police women.

In setting forth their reasons for desiring women police, the petitioners declare such a departure in police affairs is necessary in the interest of public morals and for the prevention of crime against the youth of both sexes.

The signers of the petition further aver that the demand is made after a careful study of existing conditions and observations of the necessity of women on the force.

Although the names of only six of the foremost women of San Antonio appear on the petition sent to the mayor and city council, the women themselves say they could get 10,000 signers if necessary.

To Keep Screens From Rusting

Before putting screens away for the winter, give them a coat of kerosene. This will keep them from rusting. If they are treated in the same manner before being put up for the summer, you will have no trouble with mosquitoes, as this keeps away the tiny young insects, which are able to crawl in between the open spaces in the screens.

A Resourceful Scot

A Scottish tourist walking about the streets in Paris, some distance from the hotel, found he had taken a wrong turning, and to make things worse, he couldn't through ignorance of the language ask the way.

Then a happy thought struck him. By dint of "eggs he concluded a bargain with a fruit hawker for a basket full of gooseberries, and then, to the amazement of everybody, went about shouting:

Fine Scotch grossetts! A penny a pun!

This went on for a while, till a fellow-countryman rushed forward and asked:

Man d'ye think ye're in the streets of Glasca, that gang about like a madman crying grossetts?

Echt! replied the hawker with a sense of relief, ye're just the man I was looking for. D'ye ken the way to the — hotel?

A Subtle Rebuke

He was a wealthy youth, blessed with plenty of money, and a great number of people were ready to take it away from him. He lived in San Francisco, which city, according to reliable report, is as full of speed and action after dark as Ty Cobb is when he steals home with a winning run. One night the young man, full of check books and ideas, hired a string of forty cabs and hacks, and forming them in single file, led the procession down Market Street, the principal thoroughfare of San Francisco. His walk was slow, grand, and impressive and the vehicles followed him at a snail's pace. It looked like a funeral of a bet dog or a Mohammedan.

Suddenly a policeman ran out and put about his neck strong but unceasing fingers.

What are you trying to do? asked the officer of the law.

Why, said the leader of the procession solemnly, this town is dead and I'm burying it.

Whereupon they led him gently but quickly to the police station and showed him how to make a hole in his bank account.

A Misplaced "M"

Mrs. La Follette, wife of Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, tells of a country newspaper which in reporting the speech of her celebrated husband, intending to add as comment, "And the masses believed him," said instead, "And them asses believed him."

Speaking of that fish you caught.

What about it?

I notice you modify its size to your various listeners.

Well, I never tell a man more than I think he'll believe.

Senator Borah is one of the sanest of the Republican Progressives in the Senate. He is a man of great legal ability and loves a legal argument. Also, he is one of the great debaters in the Senate and one of the few members of that body who have not been bluffed out by the brawny Bailey.

He takes particular delight in clambering abroad that constitutional expert, heedless of his patronizing, his bullying or his sneers.

One of Borah's measures is a law providing for a bureau for children.

I assume, said the supercilious Bailey, that this bill of the Senator from Idaho is somewhat similar to that provision in the agricultural appropriation bill makes some sort of a similar arrangement for calves and pigs.

Exactly smiled Borah at the Texan. My bill seeks to have the government do for the children what it has already done for the calves and pigs.

Whereupon Mr. Bailey sat down heavily and became lost in Jeffersonian thought.

Another Verdict on New York

Soon after George Ade had put on his play "The Bad Samaritan," and had it swept off the boards by the condemnation of the critics and the disapproval of the thespian public, he hurried himself into a sleeping car and beat it back to his home in Indiana. As he stepped off the train one of his old farmer friends remarked:

George, I hear that your play failed in New York?

Yes, said Abe pleasantly, it failed, and I guess it must have been pretty bad.

That may be true, said the farmer, but what I don't understand is how in thunder New York ever found it out.

A Periodical Tippler

A doctor's patient in Excelsior Springs the other day was answering the usual list of queries prior to entering upon a course of treatment.

Are you steady, or a periodical drinker? asked the physician.

Periodical, was the reply.

How long between periods?

The poor fellow studied a moment, that he might answer correctly, and replied:

About twenty minutes.

Well Trained

Hub (angrily)—What! More money? When I'm dead you'll probably have to beg for all the money you get.

Wife (calmly)—Well, I'll be better off than some poor women who never had any practice.

The Proven Asthma Remedy.

Since asthma existed there has been no lack of much heralded remedies, but they have proved short lived and worthless. The ever-growing reputation of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has given it a place in the field of medicine which no other can approach. It has never been pushed by sensational methods, but has simply gone on effecting relief and making new converts.

Joe's Automobiling Fun

Yes, remarked Farmer Hodge, my boy Joe gets a good deal of fun out of motor cars.

But he doesn't own a machine.

Of course not. He's one of the constables.

Short of breath and angry withal the motorist emerged from beneath his car and the helpful friend, who was presiding over the oil can, beamed upon him.

I've just oiled the cylinder, Shirkley old man, remarked the helpful friend, with a grin of pleasure on his countenance.

The motorist became angrier and shorter still of breath. His hand went to his head and he grew red with vexation. For a moment he battled with his temper.

Good heavens, he gurgled, eventually, that wasn't the cylinder it was my ear you were oiling.

A Girl's Letter

That fact is very plain.

Page Two you see is numbered Three.

Which greatly jars your brain.

Page Four is Six, that's flat.

What of Page Five?

Why, sakes alive;

You never do find that.

"SOME HAV' MEAT, AND CANNA EAT"

So Bobby Burns tersely describes the rich, but still poor, dyspeptics. But their case is not now so desperate as when Burns wrote. For the man who has the food now can eat without suffering for it, if he just follows the meal with a Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablet.

These remarkable tablets banish the troubles of the chronic dyspeptic—the man who is bilious—the sufferer from heartburn, gas on the stomach or occasional indigestion. You can eat hearty meals of wholesome food—and digest them, too—if you take Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets.

Compounded by expert chemists, after probably the best formula known to medical science, they are quick and certain in their action, giving prompt relief from all forms of stomach trouble, toning up and strengthening the digestive organs and bringing about permanent cures.

A man is no stronger than his stomach. Fit yourself for your best work by taking Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets, 50c. at your druggist's. National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Montreal.

the Senate he was advised by his physician to give up smoking. The physician happened up at the Capitol one morning, when he dropped into the Mississippi committee-room to say howdy. As he entered he observed the Senator reared back in his chair, with his feet on the desk and a huge cigar in his mouth.

Here, Senator, he said, I thought I told you to quit that?

Quit what? asked Mr. Mooney in mild surprise.

Why quit using tobacco.

Tobacco! Why, my dear doctor, I am merely smoking a cigar Senator Beveridge gave me.
